LEADER MURPHY EXPECTS AC-CESSIONS FROM UP STATE.

smith Weed Said to Be Among the Parker Men Who Doubt the Wisdom of Instructing the Delegation to St. Louis Mr. Delany Has Gone Exploring.

Charles F. Murphy has not given up hope of being able to work the Democratic State convention to send an uninstructed delegation to St. Louis. In the past three days Mr. Murphy has had conences with several up-State leaders, and assurances have been given to him that he will have behind him at the State convention enough votes outside of the 105 rom Tammany to make him an important factor. It was also said yesterday that some of Judge Parker's friends were coming around to the idea that his chances at St. Louis might be improved by sending an uninstructed delegation from this State. Senator Victor Dowling, one of Mr. Murphy's right hand men, said last night:

The delegates from New York county will oppose the sending of an instructed delegation to St. Louis, even though the 105 votes from this county are the only ones registered against an instructed delegation. registered against an instructed delegation. But there are indications that there will be many more votes than those from this county in support of their position. Within the last week several friends of Judge Parker have told me and Mr. Murphy also that they are inclined to think that the chances of Judge Parker will be hurt rather than helped by a continuance of the effort to send an instructed delegation to St. Louis.

I believe that at the State convention "I believe that at the State convention men who are now advocating the nomination of Judge Parker and are working for an instructed delegation will recede from the position they now occupy. They will, if I can interpret the situation rightly, take the ground that they can trust their friends and that rather than foster anything which may lead to ill feeling they will give way on the question of instructions, because they know that eventually the delegates from this State will undoubtedly combine on a candidate."

Asked if it was true that an active can-Asked if it was true that an active can-vass had been begun to win over leaders to the support of Mr. Murphy, the Senator replied: "Not exactly; we are not making any regular-canvass, but wherever we find any anti-instruction sentiment developing we are trying to take advantage of it. This sentiment exists more generally than some people will allow themselves to be-some people will allow themselves to believe."

On Sunday night Mr. Murphy had a long talk with Thomas F. Conway of Plattsburg, principal lieutenant of Smith M. Weed, who controls the Democratic affairs of many of the districts in the northern part of the State. Although personally in favor of the nomination of Judge Parker, Mr. Weed has more than once declared that he thinks it would be the wiser course to send an uninstructed delegation. Mr. Conway, it was learned last night, told Mr. Murphy that practically all of the counties in the Fourth Judicial district would be against an instructed delegation.

The counties in the Fourth district include Clinton, Essex, Warren, Saratgoa, Washington, Montgomery, Schenectady, Fulton, Hamilton, St. Lawrence and Franklin. These counties are represented by thirty-three delegates. Mr. Murphy now controls 129 votes from the counties of New York, Westchester, Richmond and Suffolk. Corporation Counsel Delany was up the State yesterday. It was said last night that Mr. Delany had been despatched to the north to round up support for Mr. Murphy.

ODELL'S FRIENDS JUBILANT. The Governor Himself Boasts That He Is the Only One Who Got What He Went After. ALBANY, March 21.-Gov. Odell's friends were jubilant about the Capitol corridors to-night after they had talked with him bout the result of the conference of Republican leaders in New York city on Saturday and Sunday. The Governor frankly told his friends that he was the only Republican who attended the conference who got what he went after, and that was the chairmanship of the Republican State committee. He added that If there was any other Republican leader at the conference who went there for anything substantial and got it he was welcome to it. The Governor's friends are amazed that he has been permitted to have amazed that he has been permitted to have his own way so easily and without a struggle from the Plattites, and remarked that they never feared lack of nerve on the part of the enemy, but have been fearful all along that Gov. Odell himself would weaken.

It was said to-night that Odell would attempt to hoodwink Senator Platt's friends by appointing Mr. Platt's friend. Frank E. Baker of Owego, as a State Railroad Commissioner for another term, but that the Governor still was determined to get control of the commission by having a law Governor still was determined to get control of the commission by having a law passed at the present session increasing the number of commissioners from three to five. Gov. Odell now has a member of the commission in the person of Capt. Joseph E. Dickey of Newburg, and has it in his mind, if the membership of the commission is increased to five, to appoint George W. Aldridge of Rochester as a fourth member and an Odell man from New York city as a fifth member. This would give the Governor control of the commission by a vote of 3 to 2. Mr. Aldridge is now secretary of the commission at a salary of $6,000.

INSTRUCTED FOR ROOSEVELT. Various Republican Conventions Declare for His Nomination.

ALTOONA, Pa., March 21.-At a meeting of the Blair county Republican committee to-day Theodore Roosevelt was unanimously indorsed for President and O. G. Morris, delegate to the national convention was instructed to vote for him. The national delegates from Bedford and Huntington counties have received similar in-structions.

PIERRE, S. D., March 21.—The Republicans of Sully county to-day elected delegates to the State convention and instructed them to cast their vote for national delegates pledged to Roosevelt. The State conven-pleaged to Rossveit. The State convention will be held on May 4.

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., March 21.—The Madison county Republican convention to-day indorsed the Administration of President Roosevelt.

Jackson, Miss., March 21.—The Republican convention of the Sixth district has chosen delegates to the State convention, which meets in Jackson on Wednesday to select delegates to the national convention. Resolutions were adopted indorsing Roosevelt and urging his nomination at Chicago.

Galveston, Tex., March 21.—The Republican State convention to elect delegates at large to the national Republican convention meets in Dallas to-morrow. The county delegates to the State convention have all been instructed to vote for delegates to the national convention who will support Roosevelt's nomination for the Presidency.

HEARST DELEGATES BOLT. Hold a Rump Convention and Elect Delegates to the State Convention. SALAMANCA, N. Y., March 21 .- An effort to stampede the First Assembly district convention at Franklinville for Hearst to-day resulted in a dismal failure. Alleged delegates from three towns, where it was shown no caucuses had been held, were excluded from the convention, whereupon the Hearst leaders, who had secured some delegates without making them aware of the real issue, withdrew and with the assistance of the rejected delegates held a rump convention and elected delegates without instructions to the State convention.

The full representation in the convention was sixty-one delegates. Thirty-three remained in regular convention and elected delegates instructed for Judge Parker. The bolting members numbered nineteen regulars and nine volunteers who came without credentials. The bolters claim to have had 38 votes. Their proceedings were held behind closed doors.

HEARST MEETING COLD. Boston Doesn't Take Kindly to the Boom -Congressmen Make Speeches.

Boston, March 21.-An attempt was made to-night to stir up some enthusiasm for Hearst among the local Democrats by holding a mass meeting in Faneuil Hall but it met with little success, there being hardly 1,000 persons present.

The speakers were George Fred Williams who has just admitted that he was in favor of the nomination of the New York Congressman; John J. Fitzgerald of Providence, George W. Greene of Providence, Congressman Shober of New York, Congressman DeArmond of Missouri, Congressman Van Duzer of Nevada and Congressman Livernash of California. They attempted to explain why Hearst should be the Democratic nominee for President.

Van Duzer even went so far as to predict that Hearst would be elected to the office and all the speakers took a fling at trusts, saying that it was the only issue of the campaign and that Hearst was the only man who could be relied upon to crush out the octoruses which were throttling the entire country

A speech, said to have been written by Hearst, was read at the meeting.

WINCHESTER, Ill., March 21 .- The Democrats of Scott county in convention here to-day adopted resolutions instructing delegates to the State convention to vote for delegates to the national convention that would support William Randolph Hearst for President and indorsed H. T. Rainey for Congress

HILLSBOROUGH, Ill., March 21 .- The Montgomery county Democratic convention this morning adopted resolutions indorsing the candidacy of William R. Hearst for President, delegates being instructed to vote for him first, last and all the time. Ben F. Caldwell was indorsed for Congress

TRUN DOWN BY THE LADY.

A Tale of a Poet-Model, an Acid Dose That Went Wide and Remedial Soapsuds.

Douglas Overin, who is said to be both a poet and an artist's model, tried to commit suicide last night with carbolic acid in a drug store at Ninety-ninth street and Columbus avenue. Overin is a son of George D. Overin, an immigration inspector. and lives with his father at 66 West 100th street. He is 19 years old.

He went to the drug store and asked for carbolic acid for cleaning purposes. As the package was handed to him he tore off the label and raised the bottle to his lips. Charles F. Hatterman, proprietor of the drug store, was too quick for him and knocked the bottle to the floor. The would-be suicide promptly fainted.

One of the clerks called Policeman Warner When the cop appeared, young Overin recovered in a hurry and tore out of the side door. He ran up Columbus avenue, followed by several policemen and a large crowd. Just as he mounted the steps of his home Warner overtook him.

At the West 100th street station Overin assured the police that he hadn't swallowed any acid, but they decided to make certain. The remedial dose administered consisted largely of soapsuds. After taking, Overin said that he had no further inclination toward suicide

All information about the young man was refused at his home. The police ver-sion was that he had been "t'run down" by a young woman with whom he had

YOUNG OFFENBACH A SUICIDE. Real Estate Broker's Son Had Worrled Because He Had No Employment.

Sidney L. Offenbach, 24 years old, son of Joseph Offenbach, a real estate broker of 167 Broadway, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself in the right temple with a .32-calibre revolver at his residence, 97 East 116th street. He was found at 6 o'clock last night by his sister Hannah, who went to call him to dinner.

Mr. Offenbach said last night that his son Mr. Onembach said last high that his son was of a very sensitive nature and he worried because he had been out of a job for the last month. He went to his room in the afternoon and told the servant not to have anybody disturb him until 6 o'clock.

OLEAN, N. Y., March 21.—The first Assembly district Democratic convention to-day elected these delegates to the State convention: D. W. Dean, W. N. Sill and T. P. Ryan. They were instructed for Parker for President. Thomas H. Dowd was indorsed for State committeeman after a bitter fight. Contesting delegates will be sent to the State convention.

Jamestown, N. Y., March 21.—The Democratic First Assembly district convention for Cattaraugus county was held in Franklinville this afternoon and broke up in a row between the Dowd-Hill faction and anti-Dowd-Hearst faction. In several of these resolutions were passed showing the sense of the primaries to be for Parker, although the delegates were not instructed for him.

A hot fight is being waged against State Committeeman John N. Carlisle by John M. Fitzgerald of Sacketts Harbor, at one time a commission merchant in New York. He already has one of the two Assembly districts, but will not oppose Carlisle if he can be elected chairman.

Murphy Going Away Again. Charles F. Murphy will give a dinner o-night at the Democratic Club to Webster Davis and will leave town to-morrow for another vacation. He will be away probably for a couple of weeks. He is endeavoring to keep his destination a secret, but it was said last night that he would go either to Hot Springs, Va., or to Mount Clemens,

The Weather.

There was cloudy and rainy weather over nearly all the country yesterday, save for New York and New England, and it became cloudy, with sleet and these sections toward night. The rainfall rain in the States of the Mississippi Valley from Mississippi to Minnesota and there were heavy thunderstorms in Arkansas. Tennessee and Missouri. These conditions were due to an area of high pressure passing out the St. Lawrence Valley, and throwing off northeasterly winds, and to an extensive area of low pressure covering the States between the Rocky Mountains and the Mississippi Piver and spreading castward. The winds were high east and southeast in the Mississippi Valley and the Lake regions

ROOSEVELT SCOTCHED SNAKE

HIS FRIENDS NOT SO SATISFIED AS THE GOVERNOR IS.

Conferrees Tied Him to a Political Corpse, Say the Men Who Know How Things Stand in the Republican Party in the State-Gov. Odell Complacent.

President Roosevelt, in the estimation of Republicans who delve beneath the surface of affairs, has only scotched the snake in the Republican State situation. The free and easy method by which some of the President's friends in the Platt conference at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Sunday afternoon turned the Republican machinery of the State over to Gov. Odell by requesting the Governor to become State chairman at the April 12 convention, came in for more or less comment from Republicans who have a deeper interest in the party than those who can point for proof of their allegiance only to the celerity with which they can leap into the patronage trough. Some of President Roosevelt's friends said that to them Gov. Odell's selection to be State chairman meant that the Governor must now demonstrate his loyalty to President Roosevelt in the approaching campaign. They admitted that they knew many instances of Gov. Odell's disloyalty, but they argued that as State chairman in this Presidential year he must, perforce, be loval. But others said that they did not even now view the future in the State with equanimity. Some said that the President himself was no more popular in the State to-day than he was in 1898, when he won the Governorship by only 17,000, whereas McKinley carried the State two years before

They were surprised that some of the President's friends at the Platt conference (and it was declared that they would not have done so without his permission) should accept Gov. Odell to be State chairman in a wear fraught with tramendous consea year fraught with tremendous consequences, in the face of the Governor's attitude toward the President, and of the well known fact that the Governor and his friends have not hesitated to utter the most bitterly hostile expressions about Mr.

Yet these friends of the President accept Gov. Odell to be State chairman when there is abundant Republican testimony that no more unpopular Republican in the State lives than Goy. Odell. The Govthe State lives than Gov. Odell. The Governor has antagonized the farmers in forty-three counties on the canal barge matter. His charities legislation, his hoisting the liquor license, the uniformly unhappy conditions at Albany, not to mention the taint of graft which is over all of Gov. Odell's administration, and the Republican slump demonstrated in the recent village. slump demonstrated in the recent village and town elections, as well as in the elections in 1903, led to the criticism yesterday that "President Roosevelt's friends have tied him in 1903, led to the criticism yesterday that "President Rossovelt's friends have tied him to a political corpse."

But the mischief has been done, the critics said, and cannot now be remedied. Senator Platt departed for Washington yesterday morning perfectly satisfied with the situation; and Gov. Odell returned to Albany, equally satisfied that his ambition of the last few months to be State chairman had been gratified. Gov. Odell said as he left the Fifth Avenue Hötel:

"The situation is satisfactory to me. I can't see that there has been any great change. The only result of the gathering that is new is the declaration of Senator Platt's friends that they want me to be chairman of the Republican State committee. That is highly gratifying, indeed. My friends have been urging me for a long time to take the place. Now the men who are known as the Senator's friends, and who joined in the conference yester-day by he is intitution, each me to be the place. men who are known as the Senator's friends, and who joined in the conference yester-day by his invitation, ask me to become State chairman, so it is practically a unani-mous demand for my services. Of course, mous demand for my services. Of course, this pleases me.

"As to the statement issued in which Senator Platt is acknowledged as the State leader and both of us agree not to interfere in district fights, that is all right, but there is nothing new in it. I have said all along that the Senator may remain State leader as long as he lives. I don't want the title. I have acknowledged his leadership about once a month for the last year, and one more acknowledgment does not matter. Concerning district fights I want to say that I have not interfered yet, and do not intend to interfere. I therefore simply agreed to continue my present policy. Senator Platt is satisfied; I am satisfied; everybody is satisfied, and we ought to have real, beautiful harmony now."

Regent Edward Lauterbach is a great student of the Junius Letters. When not in a hurly-burly concerning his profession, his chief recreation is the study of the Letters of Junius; and here is what Mr. Lauterbach said yesterday concerning the result of the Platt conference at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Sunday afternoon:

"That statement given out after the this pleases me.

"That statement given out after the conference yesterday was nothing more than a declaration that existing conditions exist. It would be just as newsy to declare that Julius Cæsar is still dead. Senator Platt is the State leader; Gov. Odell will manage the empaging and—there you manage the campaign and—there you

With Gov. Odell as State chairman, it is the belief that the chairmanship of the is the belief that the chairmanship of the State executive committee will go either to ex-Representative William L. Ward of Westchester or William C. Warren of Buffalo. Gov. Odell will not resign as Governor, his friends declare, even though he and his friends severely criticised Col. George W. Dunn for being State chairman and remaining a Railroad Commissioner at one and the same time. Lieut.-Gov. Higgins, in his mild and gentle fashion, put it this way: "I see this way:

put it this way:

"I see no reason why the Governor cannot attend to the duties of his office and at the same time act as chairman of the Republican State committee. The duties of the two places need not conflict."

DID NOT ATTACK MAYOR ANDRUS Mr. Morse Says His Words About Track Elevation Were Misconstrued.

Waldo G. Morse of this city and Yonkers has sent a letter to Mayor John E. Andrus of Yonkers explaining that he did not intend to accuse the latter of fraud in the matter of the elevation of the New York Central's tracks in that city, plans for which the Yonkers Council voted to approve on March 18.

At the meeting on that day Mr. Morse, as counsel for the property owners who are opposed to the accepted plan for elevating the railroad tracks through the city, filed a protest of sixteen points. One of the features complained of is the provision for a bridge over a right of way in front of property owned by the Mayor along the waterfront, allowing for a grade crossing over a switch at that point. Mr. Morse said that the plans on file did not show this arrangement and said that it had been disclosed at a previous meeting that it had been made without the knowl-edge of the Common Council and appar-ently without the knowledge of the mem-bers of the committee "to indicate a construction different from that contem-

At least one of the board took this to be an attack upon the Mayor's motives, and it was so referred to in The Sun.

Mr. Morse says in his letter that this was not the construction which should have been placed upon the section of his complaint referred to and asserts that he did not intend to attack or cuestion in any not intend to attack or question in any way the motives of the Mayor. Furthermore, he said:

"I did not intend to intimate 'that you had had any private negotiations with the railroad company, or had obtained from or been promised by them any per-sonal advantage to yourself, or that in conducting or participating in the nego-tiations in behalf of the city you had been at all influenced by personal consideraall influenced by personal considera-

Morse says that he made substantially this statement to one of the reporters after the meeting, "intending to correct what seemed to be an erroneous impres-sion on the part of certain Aldermen," which showed an entire misapprehension of his formal protest against the elevation of the tracks.

The construction placed upon the language used by Mr. Morse in his formal complaint filed, the publication of which caused offence to Mayor Andrus, Mr. Morse says would in all probability have been corrected at the meeting had he been permitted to make a verbal statement in reply to the charge made by one of the Aldermen that he had attacked the motives of the Mayor. Mr. Morse asked permission to reply to this, intending to correct this false impression at once, but on motion of the Aldermen the privilege was denied to him, he says.

Mr. Morse said yesterday that he intended to show by his protest on this particular point that he was opposed to a bridge and a grade crossing, and was not attacking point that he was opposed to a bridge and a grade crossing, and was not attacking the manner in which the provision for such came to be in the plans.

"I have the highest regard for Mayor Andrus," Mr. Morse said yesterday, "and would be the last person in the world to impute to him any motive except the highest integrity in this matter. As a matter of the service est integrity in this matter. As a matter of fact he would be better off if the railroad was left as it is to-day, so far as his property is concerned. In order to preserve his right of way the company has made this provision for a bridge to which, in the interests of my clients, I am opposed, because of the noise caused by the trains. "We do not want any bridges, even if we have got to have the tracks elevated, and to call attention to that was the sole purpose of that part of my protest upon which of that part of my protest upon this false construction was placed."

the Fireman's Widow To-day. Two checks for the benefit of the widow of Mark Kelly, the fireman who was among those who went from this city to fight the Baltimore fire, and who died from pneumonia as a result of exposure, were received at the City Hall yesterday. One check was for $1,800, contributed by the firemen and city officials of Baltimore, while the other, which was for $1,400, represented popular subscriptions collected by a Baltimore newspaper.

It has been suggested to the Mayor that it would perhaps be wiser to appoint a committee to suggested to the Mayor that it would perhaps be wiser to appoint a committee to invest the money for Mrs. Kelly, in view of the fact that she has had no business experience. Private Secretary O'Brien said that the Mayor felt that as the money had been subscribed for her without conditions it was his duty to transfer it to her without restrictions of any kind.

It is not known just what names are under consideration in selecting a successor for Third Deputy Cowan, who resigned There was a well defined rumor around Mulberry street yesterday that the new Third Deputy would be William P. Hazen, who was Chief of the United States Secret Service for many years. Mr. Hazen knows Mr. McAdoo. The Commissioner would

Mr. McAdoo. The Commissioner would only say that Mr. Hazen's name had been mentioned to him.

Regarding Senator McCarren's visit, Commissioner McAdoo said:

"I told Senator McCarren that the first and main thing, and in fact the only consideration, was that I should get the very best men for the vacancies in New York and Brooklyn, and that everything else would be secondary to that; that I should give the recommendation consideration with reference to the gentlemen named; that the two vacancies would be filled on the same principle, and that the Democratic organization in New York had given me a free hand in making my selection, and had not in any wise attempted to interfere with my choice.

and had not in any wise attempted to interfere with my choice.

"He asked me if the fact of the recommendations being made by the Democratic organization of Kings county or the additional fact that some of those named were leaders in their respective districts and active members of the organization would be a bar to their selection; to which I replied that none of these considerations would be a bar to the selection of the man I thought best fitted for the place; that I had a fixed idea as to the character and standing of the men who ought to be selected, and that I wanted the Brooklyn Deputy to be free in aiding me to give to Brooklyn the best possible police government."

After his interview with the Commi After his interview with the Commissioner, Senator McCarren said:
"I asked the commissioner if he would bar a district leader from the place. He said he wasn't in favor of the selection of a district leader, because he thought that a district leader would be handicapped in his work by this very fact. Mr. McAdoo further stated, however, that if a district leader possessed every qualification for the office, he might consent to appoint one.
"The Commissioner asked me about all

"The Commissioner asked me about all of the three men, Melody, Shea and Salmon, and I told him a lot about them. I told him that all three were qualified to fill the place and that Salmon wasn't a district leader. He said that he knew Shea, having been personally acquainted with him ing been personally acquainted with him for some time. Melody and Salmon he

Senator McCarren then explained that his visit was not of his own volition, but that he was selected at the meeting of the Brooklyn Democratic organization, on Saturday night, to act as a committee of one to wait upon Commissioner McAdoo and present the three names.

NO SIGN OF RENEWED BUILDING. Negotiations With the Strikers at an End -Millions in Wages Lost.

Contrary to expectation, the bricklayers made no new proposal to the Mason Builders' Association yesterday and showed no signs of yielding. Under normal conditions in the third week of March from 35,000 to 45,000 mechanics are working in the building trades, and the number increases as the building season continues

President Otto M. Eidlitz of the Building Trades Employers' Association said last evening

"We have done all we could and consider that we have gone the full limit. The bricklayers have brought about a situation that is more than illogical. It is ridiculous as well as unfortunate. I believe that the rank and file of the bricklayers will take the bit in their teeth and break away from those who are keeping them out in violation of the arbitration agreement. We have proved that we decided to stand by the arbitration agreement and can go no further. What the board of governors will do when it meets to-morrow night it is not for me to say now. No negotiations are going on with the bricklayers."

The statement of the walking delegates of the bricklayers that they have not ordered the strike is scouted by influential members of the unions. They say that only a small proportion of the bricklayers attend the meetings and if a strike is declared the delegates must notify the others. Chairman Finn of the executive committee of man Finn of the executive committee of the bricklayers' unions said yesteday that the strike had not yet come before the executive committee. He added:

"And it may not come before the executive committee either. I can see no light ahead. It is the first time that I could not understand the situation, and I do not understand it now. I would not undertake to predict how it would end."

Another official said that the bricklayers appeared to be blindly forcing a fight for Another omeial said that the brickayers appeared to be blindly forcing a fight for the open shop. A break would eventually take place unless there was a settlement. "There are all sorts of men in the unions," he said, "and if the fight lasts long enough some will break away and a stampede to work will begin."

Applied to the blindly forcing a fight last stamped to work will begin."

work will begin.

Architects are troubled by the conditions in the building trade. Henry Donnelly of Twenty-ninth street and Fifth avenue, W. C. Lawritzen of 7 West Twenty-ninth street, and other architects said they were puzzled by the situation. Some of them said that plans were already being held up until the outcome of the strike can be seen. Another fight in the building trades this summer they said would be deplorable. The unjust have already lost nearly $7,000. The unions have already lost nearly $7,000,-000 in wages up to the first day of this month.

is a dangerous thing. It is too expensive; it doesn't pay, because it makes no impression on the public. The victims of one insertion are numerous, and, because the public could not be influenced by one little notice, they conclude that advertising doesn't pay, and that it is a waste of money. Andrew Van Bibber, of Cincinnati, tells this story:

"I have a friend in this city-an old schoolmate-who had only $12,000. For ten months he spent $1,000 a month in advertising, without profit. He made up his mind to 'let the tail go with the hide,' and stuck to it with his last $2,000, and on that $2,000 his profits began, and he is now one of our solid citizens. What would have become of him if he had lacked that last $2,000 does not matter now. Very many advertisers dig a cellar and proceed no further with their building."

The beginner, who has not much to spend, can cover the country with one medium-THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL, with its million circulation.

Experienced advertisers will tell you that THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL not only covers the ground, but that it has made more advertising successes than any other publication.

Many a prospective advertiser objects to the price-six dollars a line. It is a waste of money if put out niggardlyin small doses, perhaps, or for a single trial, to see what will come of it. It would be a waste of money to begin with a whole page. You must get the confidence of our readers by repeated insertions, then gradually increase your space. It will pay you well if you do it right.

NON-STRIKERS FOR THE FAIR

CONCESSIONERS WON'T PAY ST. LOUIS UNION WAGES.

Hiring Independent Workers Here Under Contracts That Bar Strikes - The Mayor's Marshal Visits the New York Employment Agency and O. K.'s It.

Somebody complained to the Mayor's marshal a few days ago that a company doing an employment agency business in Room 46, World Building, was taking one dollar fees from applicants for work under the concessioners at the St. Louis Exposition, and refusing to give the money back on demand.

Gaetano Damato, the marshal's chief. went to the agency, which is an incorporated concern with offices also in Chicago and St. Louis, put up his dollar and made application, for a job as a waiter. He gave his right name and address and said that he could speak several languages. Then he asked Tyler McGregor, who is in charge of the office, what time he could get the job. On being told that he would have to wait until April 25, Damato said he couldn't do it, and asked for his money back. It do it, and asked for his money back. It was promptly returned to him.

Then he told who he was and invited McGregor over to the City Hall to put up a bond of $1,000 required of employment agencies, which he did through a surety company. He also filed an application for a license, which McGregor did not suppose was necessary in turnishing labor to employers in St. Louis. Damato said that the McGregor concern was well rated in Bradstreet's and that he would take no action in the matter. the matter.

McGregor frankly declared that the object of his company was to furnish to the St. Louis exposition concessioners musi-cians, cooks, waiters, clerks and other working folk at wages below the exorbitant rates demanded by the St. Louis unions, which are away above the normal union

"We do not care," Mr. McGregor said, "We do not care," Mr. McGregor said, "whether the applicants for work are union or non-union. We require them to sign a contract that they will not take part in any strike during the fair and that they will not antagonize the interests of their employers. We want independent workingmen and women. Mr. Scraps, president of the concessioners, writes to me that they cannot afford to have their business imperilled by strikes or threats of strikes. He is ready to sign contracts take none but independent labor, and he says that the Tony Faust Restaurant Company will be willing to do likewise. All applicants for work who sign a seven months' contract will get free transportation to St. Louis. Those working less than that time will be sent there at reduced rates."

The printed forms of the concern's con tracts with applicants for work require the applicant to pay his first week's salary to the concern if he gets a job. Work also may be secured by the applicant on a com-

LITHOGRAPHERS DEADLOCKED.

Employers Say Their Customers Will Guarantee Them a Fighting Fund. A. Beverley Smith, manager of the Employing Lithographers' Association East, admitted vesterday that the men were not signing the arbitration agreement and that nearly all lithographing plants were idle. "We have been asked by our customers "We have been asked by our customers from all parts of the country not to yield," he said, "They want to have the matter fought out to Insure stable conditions. They are ready and have offered to raise a fund to assist us financially if necessary in keeping up the fight."

Mr. Smith said that reports from Chicago that the union had gained its point there were officially denied by the firms. The two firms in this city whose men were working had not entered into the movement for an arbitration agreement.
